

FRIED CHICKEN LIVERS WITH SRIRACHA AIOLI

Fried Chicken Livers with Sriracha Aioli

While cold weather grips most of our Nation this week and temps in Houston dip below freezing I can't help but crave some of my Southern-fried favorite recipes. Chicken liver is easier to come by here in the Houston metro area so today I'm getting my TEXAS on and reposting my recipe for Fried Chicken Livers from the blog 2013. My family isn't impressed by liver of any kind so I might be eating these beauties all by myself.

DO YOU LOVE CHICKEN LIVERS AS MUCH AS I DO? IF SO, LET ME KNOW IN THE COMMENT SECTION BELOW.

My taste buds did a double take this month, when I read the September 2013 edition of Food and Wine Magazine; a common occurrence for me when flipping through the deftly published pages. Truly, one of my favorite periodicals.

James Holmes, Chicken Fried-Chicken Livers just about jumped off the page. Like Pavlov's dogs, I was in full tilt salivation mode, and couldn't wait to try the recipe. James is the chef at Lucy's Fried Chicken in Austin TX, where the fried dishes are down home, country-style, comfort foods. I know where I'm eating the next time I'm passing through Austin!

Creamy and pungent, coated with a crisp batter and served up piping hot; the taste of fried chicken livers take me back to mom's kitchen and my childhood. Mom also made pan-fried calves liver with sautéed onions, a dish I grew to love.

Several years ago, my grocery deli sold fried chicken livers perfect for me to nibble while I shopped for groceries. Sadly, fried chicken livers are a relic of the past and rarely seen on the menu at local restaurants. This week I searched my local market to find, no chicken livers! You would think that markets stocking tripe and cows tongue would also have a choice of chicken liver? Sadly, I only found cows liver. I finally found a few small containers, in the frozen meat department at Whole Foods market; freshly frozen, they were nicely cleaned and plump.

The French have eaten liver, Pâté made from duck, calves, and pig livers for centuries. It's delicious, and healthful if cooked properly. One of my favorite liver dishes, Pâté de foie gras

Pâté de foie gras is considered an ultimate culinary delight, the king of pâtés. Along with its pedigree comes a hefty price tag. Foie gras is French for “fat liver,” and this pâté is made from the livers of specially fattened geese or duck. There’s nothing better than a crisp loaf of french bread, a plate of Pâté , and a bottle of wine.

Some health benefits: The vitamin A found in liver is beneficial to you in a number of ways. It contributes to healthy fertility and proper embryo development. It also helps children to avoid developing asthma, prevents kidney stones, regulates blood sugar and fats. Additionally, the vitamin A found in liver can protect you from some environmental toxins and helps to promote proper development during puberty, according to SteadyHealth.com. The vitamin A and arachidonic acid in liver can improve the health and appearance of your hair and skin. Arachidonic acid also contributes to hydration, intestinal health and growth.

Read more: LiveStrong

Old Fashion Fried Chicken Livers SO DELICIOUS

I have adapted James Holmes recipe, omitting the ground cumin from the seasoned flour mixture, substituting my fresh Sriracha Aioli instead of James adobo seasoned mayo; and pared the rich and creamy livers with my Spicy Cauliflower Pickles. The perfect trio of flavors!

Fried Chicken Livers
2013-08-27 16:56:18

Yields 2

Write a review

Save Recipe

Print

Prep Time

15 min

Cook Time

5 min

Prep Time

15 min

Cook Time

5 min

Ingredients

1. 3 1/2 cups buttermilk
2. 1/3 cup Louisiana-style hot sauce, such as Crystal
3. 1 1/2 tablespoons soy sauce
4. 1 pound chicken livers, trimmed
5. 3 cups all-purpose flour
6. 3 large eggs

7. 2 teaspoons ground black pepper
8. 1 teaspoon garlic salt
9. Vegetable or peanut oil, for frying
10. salt

Instructions

1. In a large bowl, whisk 2 cups of the buttermilk with the hot sauce and soy sauce. Add the trimmed chicken livers and turn to coat. Cover and refrigerate overnight.
2. Make aioli sauce; refrigerate.
3. Set a rack over a baking sheet. Spread 1 1/2 cups of the flour in a shallow bowl. In another shallow bowl, beat the eggs with the remaining 1 1/2 cups of buttermilk. In a third shallow bowl, mix the remaining 1 1/2 cups of flour, the cayenne, black pepper, and garlic salt.
4. Remove the livers from the buttermilk, then dredge them in the plain flour. Dip the livers in the egg mixture, then dredge in the seasoned flour. Transfer to the rack.
5. In a large saucepan, heat 2 inches of oil to 350°. Set another rack over a rimmed baking sheet. Add half of the livers to the hot oil and fry over moderately high heat, turning once, until barely pink inside, 3 to 5 minutes. Transfer to the clean rack and season lightly with salt. Repeat with the remaining livers. Serve hot, with Spicy Sriracha Aioli

Notes

1. Livers are tough little buggers to fry; they can, and will explode! I suggest using a fry daddy or a very deep saucepan to keep the mess to a minimum, and you safe from oil spatters.

By Rebecka Evans

Adapted from James Holms, Food and Wine Magazine

Adapted from James Holms, Food and Wine Magazine

At Home with Rebecka <http://athomewithrebecka.com/>

Trim Livers

Step #1 dust with plain flour

Step #2 egg wash

Step #3 dust with seasoned flour mix

At Home with Rebecka

At Home with Rebecka

Sriracha Aioli

2018-01-05 18:39:29

Write a review

Save Recipe

Print

Prep Time

5 min

Total Time

5 min

Prep Time

5 min

Total Time

5 min

Ingredients

1. Ingredients

2. 1 cup Extra Virgin Olive Oil

3. 1/2 cup Grapeseed or sunflower oil

4. 2 eggs

5. 3 fresh garlic cloves

6. 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

7. 1 tablespoon Dijon Mustard

8. 1 tablespoon Sriracha sauce

9. salt and pepper to taste

Instructions

1. In a tall mixing cup, using a blender or hand held emulsifier, combine eggs, garlic, lemon juice, blend until combined
2. slowly drizzle oil into egg mixture until all oil is used and mixture is thick and creamy
3. add sriracha and blend until just combined
4. season with salt and pepper

Notes

1. Recipe can be made a day ahead, stored in an airtight container, and refrigerated

By Rebecka Evans

At Home with Rebecka <http://athomewithrebecka.com/>

CLICK HERE For the RECIPE Spicy Cauliflower Pickles